Description

"Antares" 1972 66ft Italian built wooden classic.

She was bought by current owners in 1995 where they spent 2 years in Fort Lauderdale doing a major refit before taking off on an adventure of a life time. After many miles and countless stories, Antares made her way to Australia where she currently lies, off Palm Beach Pittwater. They have maintained and updated her continuously for 23 years.

Its not until stepping aboard that you really appreciate the quality of this fine vessel. She oozes loads of charm below deck. Navigation station with single berth, electrical panels, navigation instruments with wet locker to port, enclosed washing/drying machine.

Next level down is the large main cabin. Raised oak panelling detail, oak beams, dual hatches, 2 pilot berths, dining table with seating for six, port settee, entertainment system and lockers on port and starboard.

Mahogany lined fore and aft passage leads to portside enclosed fully equipped galley with LPG 3 burner stove + oven, refrigerator/freezer, double stainless steel sink and ample storage. Hatch overhead. Large shower, toilet and vanity to starboard side of the passage.

Passage way then leads to a mahogany lined night cabin with king size bed plus wardrobe, storage and general purpose area with single berth. Passage then leads to forward cabin with two single vee berths and onwards to the chain locker.

All cabins are fitted with mahogany and lexan hatches with stainless steel hardware, hinged, solid skylights. All tastefully lined in quality timber.

This is a classic yacht that turns heads in every port. Set up for short handed sailing. A fabulous proven live aboard and voyaging yacht
